Learning Support for Students in Quarantine

In the 2021-22 school year, individual students, classrooms, or our whole school may need to be remote for periods of time due to quarantine or illness. Relationships are essential. Keeping students with adults and classmates they know supports academic and social-emotional learning.

When students need temporary remote instruction, here is the learning support you can expect at South Central School.

Individual Quarantine Learning

- Students are assigned a chromebook.
- Call and/or email back and forth with questions or use Class Dojo. Teachers will provide a time for students to ask questions during office hours/planning.
- Students will log into Google Classrooms daily for assignments and independent learning.
- Teachers may post recorded videos of teaching or live feeds may be utilized to explain/model a concept.
- Packets may be utilized for certain situations in addition to Google Classroom.
- Classroom Teachers may have more detailed plans.
